

Alexandria-Arlington

EXTRA

THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 2007

3 Dial-a-Legislator
Rep. James P. Moran Jr. answers to constituents during a "telephone town hall."

4 Virginia Notebook
The GOP transit deal has a long path ahead before it can be declared a victory for the party.

8 Neighborhood Flavor
For sophisticated-Italian cuisine and a neighborly visit, stop by A la Lucia in Old Town.

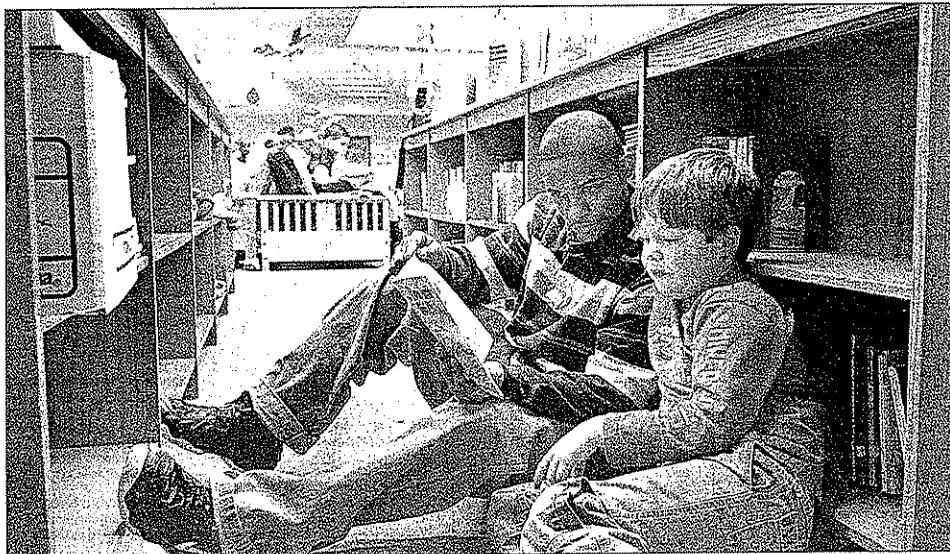

Offerings include, clockwise from left, salami antipasto, rigatoni and veal scaloppine.

10 Beguiled And Bedeviled
Arlington's Dominion Stage presents a satirically clever romantic romp with plenty of camp.

Richard Isaacs, left, and J.R. Owens in "Say You Love Satan."

PHOTOS BY GERARD HARTBECK — THE WASHINGTON POST

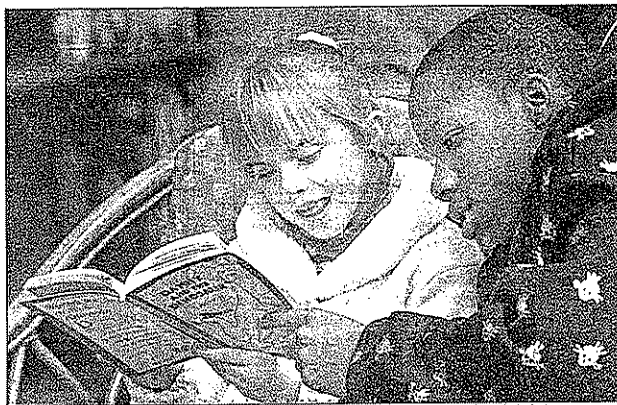

Washington-Lee High School senior Michael Grant helps second-grader Thomas Levine with his book at the Tuckahoe Elementary School library. They were paired through Readers Are Leaders, a program that matches high school athletes with younger students.

A Buddy System for Reading

With athletes as their mentors, youngsters try to master one of the 3 R's.

By Tara Bahrampour
Page 12

Tuckahoe third-grader Caroline Frias and Jemarie Drakeford, a senior at Washington-Lee, read "Danny and the Dinosaur" at their weekly session.

SHOP THE REGION'S MOST COMPLETE

MARKETPLACE — INSIDE!